

Leadership 4.0

MAY 20th – 21st 2019

AT THE ZURICH INSTITUTE OF BUSINESS EDUCATION

CONTENT

The scope of the topic “industry 4.0” and “digitization” does not (yet) suit the way in which leaders deal with the issue. But what does that mean exactly? The challenges of Industry 4.0 and new work require a new understanding of the leadership role, attitudes and behavior. The magic words of the new leadership generation are agility, flexibility, cross-hierarchical and team work, networking in ecosystems, talent identification, recruitment, and retention, employee engagement as well as innovation. Innovative processes need agile, creative, change experienced and visionary leaders.

In order to succeed in the age of industrialization 4.0, in times of disruptive business and workplace revolution, it is not sufficient to have good products, services or technology. Managers must provide results, experiences, exciting projects and inspiration. They must help realize individual dreams of their employees who need special guidance and create an atmosphere of cooperation, collaboration and self-management.

The workshop explores:

- New organizational forms
- Enterprise 2.0
- Digital Work-Places
- Social Collaboration
- New Leadership Role
- Digital Competence
- Best practices in Leadership 4.0
